

WELCOME

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the WSSA, it is our distinct pleasure to welcome you to beautiful Albuquerque, New Mexico, site of the 51st annual WSSA conference. Within 50 years, our association has grown from a small regional meeting that hardly filled the cafeteria at the University of Denver to a full-fledged conference attracting participants both nationally and internationally. In fact, if one casually examines the program, it is evident that the WSSA has a global following. We continue to draw attendees from Latin America, Canada, Australia, Asia, Europe, and even Africa.

This year, we are going to try something new. Larry Gould, WSSA Executive Officer, will host a Professional Development Luncheon, during which he will talk about developing a professional portfolio and documenting a path to promotion. This is something that graduate students and new scholars on the path to promotion and tenure will not want to miss. The luncheon will be followed by a publication workshop hosted by the Social Science Journal editor, Prabha Unnithan that everyone is encouraged to attend.

This year's conference theme, New Era in a New World: Challenges facing the Social Sciences, has attracted many outstanding papers. We have chosen this theme because this is a pivotal point in history. Domestically, we have elected the first African American President in America's history. This President has the unenviable task of rebuilding our economy and creating a vision for a New Era in a New World. Based on the number of presentations at this year's conference, our members are up to the challenge. During this three day conference, we invite you attend sessions outside your discipline and be open to new ideas. With these exchanges we can help integrate social science research in a way that will help us face these challenges.

Again, we welcome you to Albuquerque and, most of all, we are looking forward to seeing you during the three days that we are together. We would like to also ask you to please take the time to introduce yourselves to any of the WSSA officers during the conference. If there is anything that we can do to make WSSA better you can always leave us a note in the suggestion box that will be located near the Registration Desk.

Sincerely,

Phadrea D. Ponds
WSSA President

SPECIAL EVENTS

Professional Development Luncheon

Thursday • 11:30 am – 12:45 pm • Pavilion VI • Ticketed Event

Larry A. Gould, PhD
Associate Vice President and Campus
Executive Officer
Northern Arizona University – Yuma
Branch Campus

Larry A. Gould, in addition to his academic position, is the Executive Director of the WSSA, overseeing the general operation of the Association. Prior to completing his Ph.D. in Sociology with a minor in Criminal Justice and Experimental Statistics from Louisiana State University, Gould had a successful career in law enforcement. He continues today as one of the leading consultants in the nation in the development and analysis of policies and procedures for police departments and their insurers.

Your Professional Portfolio and Your Path to Promotion & Tenure

This is a special presentation intended for graduate students, new scholars on the path to promotion and tenure, and/or scholars in need of information that will aid in the development of a professional portfolio.

Topics Covered:

- Development of the professional vita
- Development of the extended vita
- Development of the teaching, service, and scholarly portfolios
- Development of statements of philosophy on teaching, service, and research
- Organization of files for tracking your progress toward promotion and tenure or promotion

Cost: $10.00, (This includes the cost of the lunch)
Registration is limited. Reservations are recommended.

SSJ Professional Development Session

Thursday • 1:00 pm - 2:30 pm
Pavilion VI • Open to All

At the SSJ Publication Workshop, Prabha Unnithan (Colorado State University), Editor, and Rich Greene, (Northern Illinois University) Book Review Editor, respectively, will discuss their editorial philosophies, submission (both traditional and online), review, and decision-making procedures for articles and reviews. Attendees will have the opportunity to learn about what goes on "backstage" at a major social science journal and to ask general questions regarding SSJ's publication process

This is a rare opportunity to understand the inner workings of a professional academic journal. This is a free/open event, and ALL welcome!

Special Presentation: Student Paper Competition Presentation of Winners

Thursday • 2:45 pm – 4:15 pm
Pavilion VI • Open to All

Special Screening of the movie

"Made in LA"

2008 National Emmy Winner

Jointly sponsored by the Western Social Science Association and the Association for Borderland Studies
4:30-6:00 p.m., Pavilion VI

This is the remarkable story of three Latina immigrants working in Los Angeles garment sweatshops who decide to resist. Through a groundbreaking lawsuit and consumer boycott, they fight to hold a giant American retailer liable for the labor conditions under which its products are manufactured. Compelling and deeply human, Made in L.A. is a story about immigration, the power of unity, and the courage it takes to find your voice.

Doctor of Economic Development

The DED is a professional doctorate offered jointly by the Department of Economics and International Business and the Department of Agricultural Economics and Agricultural Business.

NMSU College of Business
NMSU College of Agriculture and Home Economics

DED Program Overview

Economic development is a complex process. Its study and practice draws on a wide variety of academic knowledge and experience. The Doctor of Economic Development (DED) is a professional degree primarily intended to provide advanced applied training for economic development professionals (rather than academic economists).

Recognizing the diversity of subjects and experience and knowledge useful to economic developers, DED students will enter the program from a variety of backgrounds. All DED students will share a common core of training in economics and economic development followed by the opportunity to select elective courses and specialties reflecting their particular interests and goals. All graduates will complete an internship and a major economic development project.

DED graduates can be seen as the link between academic theory and research in economic development and "real world" economic development problems. DED graduates will be prepared to navigate the world between the theoretical and analytical world of academic economics and the very practical problems of economic development at all levels.

Center for Heritage Renewal

The mission of the Center for Heritage Renewal is to identify, preserve, and capitalize on the heritage resources of North Dakota and the northern plains.

The center congratulates participants in the panels devoted to Heritage Studies within the Rural Studies Section of the WSSA, as they seek definition of the emerging field of Heritage Studies. The center welcomes panelists from Arkansas State University, Emporia State University, and North Dakota State University for this dialog on a discipline.

NDSU

Objectives of the Center for Heritage Renewal

1. To assist state agencies, private organizations, and the people of the state and region in generating prosperity and quality of life from heritage resources
2. To establish a center for expertise and action in the fields of historic preservation and heritage tourism
3. To provide opportunities for learning, employment, and internships for NDSU students (undergraduate and graduate)
